A Great Reunion of Veterans

The growth of the Grand Army of the Republic, since its organization in 1806, has been rapid and widespread beyond the wildest hopes of its origin. Ten States were represented in the meeting at which it was founded. To-day twenty-seven years later, it comprises forty-five departments, seventy-five hundred posts, and nearly half a million members. Within the last few years, certainly within ten or tweive, its Annual Encampment held in Washington last year, it was estimated that not less than three hundred thousand people were in attendance. The veterans seem to realize that there will not be many The growth of the Grand Army
